

Airplane view of the Grand Opera House of Paris and its immediate neighborhood, taken by Capt. Stevens and Lieut. Scantlin of the United States Army Air Service.

New and attractive picture of the Princess Vlora, who was formerly Mrs. Frank Jay Gould, born Edith Kelly. Copyright, Kadel & Herbert.

Above—Mrs. Clara Sheridan and her son, soon to visit America. She has won fame as a writer and sculptress and recently made busts of Lenin and Trotsky and other Soviet leaders. Photo International.

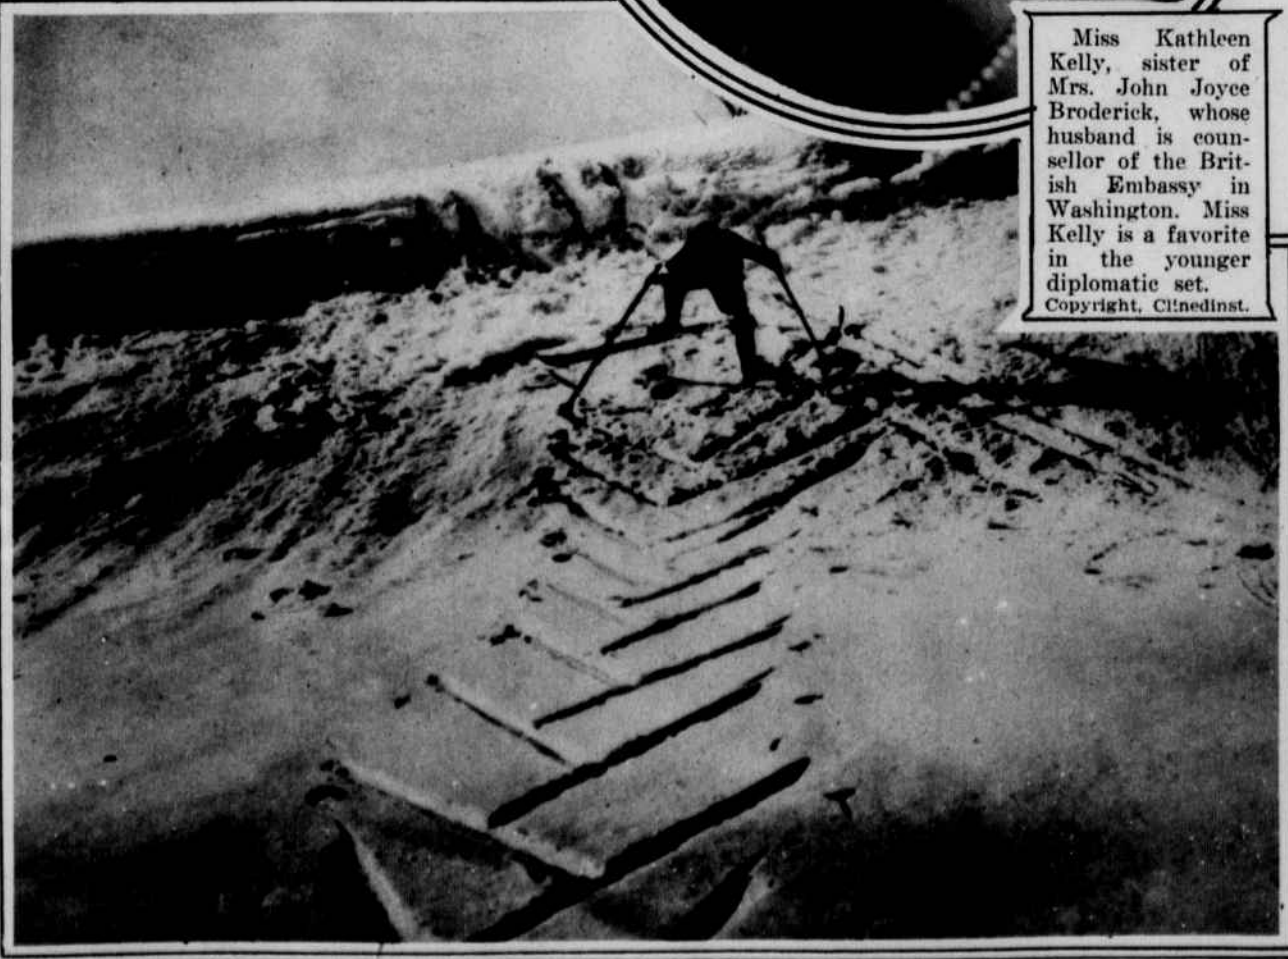

James Macy Willets, Jr.; Julia Kennedy Willets and Mary Gladys Willets with Champion Mepal's Ira and Star II., their winners at American Spaniel Club's show on the Waldorf-Astoria roof. Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Miss Kathleen Kelly, sister of Mrs. John Joyce Broderick, whose husband is counsellor of the British Embassy in Washington. Miss Kelly is a favorite in the younger diplomatic set. Copyright, Clinedinst.

At right—Miss Daisy Finola Meeking, noted English beauty, soon to visit America. She is the daughter of the late Capt. Bertram Meeking. Copyright, E. O. Hoppe.

Walking on skis in soft snow is mighty hard work, as these deep tracks show. The photograph was taken in the Italian Alps, the rival of the Swiss Alps as a winter resort. Copyright, Kadel & Herbert.